Assisted Living Project Experience

Our experience in the area of independent/assisted living design includes a number of different project types. Examples of recent projects include The Lodge at Mallards Landing, an assisted living community located in a natural setting adjacent to a wetlands area, is comprised of a 100 unit building that also contains all care and activity functions. The project site also includes 24 cottages which provide the option for more independent living.

In Sequim Washington, we designed a 15 unit retirement type project. Most units in this project are laid out in a duplex configuration where buildings either face a park or an existing street with garages and associated vehicular traffic hidden within the site.

Our project experience also includes a 188 unit assisted living project in Puyallup Washington. Similar to the Lodge at Mallards Landing, this project also includes a larger building which houses assisted living units and all care and activity functions along with cottage units arranged in duplex and triplex configurations.
